Riverside residents object to findings in flood plain study

Property owners who attended the Gull River flood plain open house informational seminar March 5 were obviously not pleased with the message they received even though many of the residents had anticipated the results of the Minden study. The findings, as explained by a member of the Ministry of Natural Resources study team, were that portion of the village of Minden, and properties downstream to Gull Lake, were in the river's flood plain and that further development would have to be restricted. The study also identified what was described as a flood fringe area, where the risk of flooding is somewhat reduced and where development would be permitted if certain flood-proofing precautions were taken.

Many of the 50 property owners were not surprised by the information provided at the meeting. From shortly after the flood plain study was undertaken three years ago, there have been indications that building on the flood plain would be severely restricted once the area was properly identified. Even though the property owners came prepared to hear this 'bad news', they were in no mood to simply accept it. The tone and urgency of the questions which followed the formal presentation provided an indication of the residents' concern over the matter.

Speaking on behalf of the Ministry of Natural Resources, the provincial department which co-ordinated the study, Brian O'Donoghue told the gathering that the study became necessary when the municipality attempted to update its zoning bylaw. When that process was started, the ministry told

Signs fail, charges laid

The problem of snowmobilers using Minden's sidewalks to operate their machines persists, and in a final bid before banning snowmobiles from the village, charges are being laid.

The posting of signs, repeated warnings, and advertisements in the newspaper have not been enough to curtail the problem, so the Municipal Bylaw Enforcement Officer is charging offenders.

In a brief report to council at last Thursday's meeting, Peter Oomen said he has issued at least 20 warnings to snowmobile operators over the past month, advising them that it is against the law to operate their vehicles on the village sidewalks. In addition, more than $400 was spent in purchasing signs to make people more aware of the bylaw.

Although the signs were put in place by the roads department six weeks ago, the problem has continued, and to date four people have been charged.

"We have asked for the co-operation of the public through newspaper ads and letters to the snowmobile association," Oomen said in his brief. "We have only two options left, but before council considers the option of banning snowmobiles from the village, we have begun to lay charges against the owners of snowmobiles who have been observed contravening our bylaw."

Those charged are not being given the option of simply paying a fine, said Oomen. Instead, they are being summonsed to court.

Charges to date include two against Margaret Rowland of Richmond Hill, one against William Grimes of Aurora, one against Bert Balas of Mississauga, and one against Prentice-Berry Ltd. of Lutterworth Township.

Orde St. residents voice concerns

Closure is approved

The Ontario Municipal Board will likely be making the final decision on whether Orde Street in Minden should be closed off at the entrance to Bobcaygeon Road.

Despite concerns voiced by some Orde Street residents, Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council voted unanimously in favour of a bylaw to close up the intersection adjacent to the Gull River Bridge. At last Thursday's meeting, council concluded that the intersection poses a safety hazard, and if it was allowed to remain open it could affect the municipality's chances of securing future provincial grants for road work. A recorded vote on the bylaw had all council members in favour of the closure.

This bylaw has already passed through two readings at the county level, and will likely see its third reading at the next meeting of county council. However, with the objections to this move still unresolved, an OMB hearing is a strong possibility.

Thursday's meeting was the second opportunity for concerned residents to convince council that the entrance should remain open. They argued that there is no traffic problem at the corner. Closure would result in an increased response time for emergency vehicles and impede snow removal, they added.

"No substantiated facts to close Orde Street have been given me by council," said Gil Scott, who bought a home on that street more than two years ago. He said there have been no reported accidents at the intersection. He also noted that there would be no adequate turn-about area for township vehicles unless they encroached on private property. And, he said, encroachment on private property could lead to insurance problems for the township.

At a meeting last October, representatives of the fire department, ambulance and roads department all stated that the closing of this entrance would pose no serious problems. At worst, the emergency response time would be increased by two minutes, council was told at that meeting.

However, Scott took the opportunity Thursday to rebut these statements. "It is a fact that when (Orde Street residents) Eldon and Mabel Deacon lost their home by fire, emergency vehicles travelled the direct route on Orde Street to respond to this emergency." He said the fire trucks would have had to make three turns on their way to the fire if they had to take the alternate route along Deep Bay Road.

"The longer response time certainly would be a serious problem to residents, if not to the fire department," said Scott. "Therefore, my rights for proper emergency cars will be impeded if Orde Street is closed at the bridge."

In the case of emergency medical needs, Scott said a two-minute delay by the ambulance could mean the difference between life and death.

J.O. Jackson, who was speaking on behalf of an Orde Street resident, questioned the need to close the entrance. He said traffic flowing in and out of the street has never been a problem, noting that more than 80 per cent of the traffic off Orde Street turns right toward the bridge and into the flow of traffic. If the Orde Street intersection is unsafe, then the intersection at South Water Street is worse, said Jackson. This situation has been a concern with council for years, he said, asking why it is being dealt with now.

"The reason is safety," Reeve Sinc Nesbitt replied. The Ministry of Transportation provided close to $.75-million for work on Bobcaygeon Road last year, and it has asked that the area be made safe, Nesbitt said. Council hopes to get more ministry funding for work on this road, and one of the requirements made by the ministry is to improve the traffic conditions at the bridge.

Responding to the comparison between Orde Street and South Water Street, Nesbitt agreed they both pose problems. He noted that the intersection with North Water Street was improved last summer and said the next step is Orde Street. He said the municipality will eventually have to deal with the problem at South Water Street as well.

At times during the meeting, tempers flared, and Nesbitt interrupted Scott as he tried to join the debate. "It's the hardest thing in the world to sit here and be brow beaten over something that should have been handled by the county roads department," he said. He feels the county should have closed up this intersection years ago, when it was under its jurisdiction.

A final presentation was heard from Dorothy McKenzie from Orange Grove Lodge who expressed concern that business could be affected. She told council that she shares the same concerns as Scott and Jackson, but also has a personal concern for the future of the business.

If the entrance is closed, the route to Orange Grove will become more complicated. She said signs would have to be posted leading customers to the lodge and brochures would have to be altered to provide new directions.

New jobs created

Victoria - Haliburton MP Bill Scott has announced the approval in principle for two job creation programs for the counties.

The John Howard Society of Victoria and Haliburton Counties will be given federal funding of $24,552 under Section 38 of the Unemployment Insurance Act.

The Paudash Trailblazers Snowmobile Club will also be receiving a grant of $15,398 under this job creation program.

Flood mapping necessary step

the township that the bylaw would not receive their approval unless the flood plain of the Gull River was identified. A formal flood plain study, funded by the provincial, federal and municipal governments was undertaken.

The study involved establishing the elevations on either side of the river, cross sectional studies of the riverbed to determine its depth and establishing how much water the river could contain without flowing over its banks. With these parameters established, the study then determined what would be the results if the area were to receive a storm similar to the one which pelted the Timmins area. Referred to as the regional storm, the event is used as a model for a storm which could occur in this area. By studying the computer generated impact of this storm, the officials were able to determine the extent of flooding along the Gull River south to Gull lake.

According to a spokesman for the federal agency involved in the study, a number of factors were introduced into the computer model to give the personnel an opportunity to set limits that would have as little impact on the community as possible. A map outlining these limits is currently in production and will be circulated to property owners affected by the results, once it is printed.

The spokesman also pointed out that once the flood plain is established, all federal and provincial agencies will be required to adhere to a code of conduct which will not permit nor provide funding to assist in the construction of buildings on the flood plain area.

O'Donoghue told the meeting that the study examined the possibility of removing an underwater ridge which cuts across the north end of Gull Lake. It has been suggested that by removing the ridge, the flow of water could be increased through the Gull River. The meeting was told the study showed the proposal was impractical and extremely expensive, and is therefore not being considered as an option.

The questions from the public which followed this presentation centered on the effect the introduction of the flood plain designation would have on the value of property in that area. Asked if it wouldn't be more beneficial for the ministry to be spending time trying to determine ways to eliminate flooding rather than establishing the flood plain, O'Donoghue responded by saying that the ministry is looking into alternatives. He noted that Parks Canada, the federal agency responsible for the flow of water on the Gull River, has undertaken a major study of its entire system. He pointed out that this agency has been examining the options available to reduce the risk of flooding.

"Why don't you people just leave us alone"

Pressed by another questioner, O'Donoghue told the audience there is no mechanism within the federal or provincial system for compensating property owners for a loss of property value as a result of the application of a flood plain designation.

On the suggestion that dredging the river would help to improve the flow of water, as would the removal of obstacles such as fallen trees and other obstructions, the spokesman said that possibility was examined by the study personnel. They determined that dredging would have little effect on reducing the level of flooding under the conditions outlined for the regional storm. O'Donoghue said the impact of the regional storm would be that some areas of the community would be covered by as much as three feet of water.

One questioner pointed out that while the community is waiting for the arrival of a so-called regional storm, or the once in a hundred year flood, the property owners must be content to live with reduced property values. It was suggested that the loss in property value will be far greater than the damage ever suffered by the residents when, and if, the river should overflow its banks in any significant way. Another individual suggested that if the money spent on the flood plain study had been spent on improvements to the flow of the river, the money would have had greater impact and the property owners would be safer from any potential flood damage.

Councillor Verne Graham briefly addressed the audience. He told the gathering that since control of the water flow through the Gull River system was the responsibility of a federal agency, Parks Canada, the property owners should be writing to Bill Scott, M.P., to demand action by this agency to protect property values.

One final comment offered by a spectator, noted that one of the purposes of establishing a flood plain designation, was the protection of lives and property. The designation also protects the senior levels of government from requests for compensation if a flood situation should occur. The property owner pointed out that in the history of the community, when the banks of the river have been breached on a number of occasions causing minor flooding and inconvenience, there has never been a request for compensation from anyone to the senior levels of government. "As far as I know, we've never received one cent here (to compensate flood damage)," she commented. "Why don't you people just leave us alone?"

Not enough

One of the most apparent problems to motorists in Minden, especially during the busy summer months, is the traffic congestion created where three roads empty out onto the Gull River Bridge.

Last summer this terrible situation was slightly improved when the entrance of North Water Street was altered to move the traffic away from the bridge. Last week, Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships Council took another small step toward improving the situation by passing a bylaw to close up the entrance to Orde Street.

Although the handling of last week's decision could have been done more delicately, the decision itself was right.

The congestion at that bridge will only get worse as the population and number of visitors in this area grows. And although there have been few, if any, traffic accidents at the Orde Street intersection, there have been many close misses.

We'd like to say that these two moves by the municipality will greatly improve the congestion in that area for this summer. However, we do not believe this is the case. The number one problem is the traffic flowing out from South Water Street, and nothing is yet planned to improve that intersection.

Years ago, the council of the day recognized the problem and hung a flashing red light above the intersection to warn drivers. This provides some help, but like the repairs to North Water Street and the closure of Orde Street, it is not enough.

The Orde Street entrance has been called a dangerous intersection. South Water Street is ten times worse. The distance of vision in either direction for drivers entering Bobcaygeon Road from this street is severely limited. The extent of the problem is multiplied in icy winter conditions as drivers try to climb the grade at that corner. And the biggest scare is for pedestrians attempting to cross over South Water Street, while cars lurch forward in an attempt to see what traffic might be coming along Bobcaygeon Road.

Closing Orde Street is a wise move. However, unless something is done to make improvements at South Water Street, the real problem is not solved.

Familiar perch

On water, wolves and waste

"The earth is the Lord's, and the fullness thereof". So writes the Psalmist. He stood in wonder and amazement at, not only the glory of nature, but also humanity's part in it: a delicate minuet of give and take, planting and reaping, submission and government.

I was thinking about this in relation to some events in the community in the past six months: the water levels, the wolf bounty, and the search for a waste disposal site. They point to something about our relationship to nature, God's gift to us.

We have not yet learned to live with her. Or rather, we have forgotten how. We seek to dominate her for our pleasure and control, and then after we rape her, we dump our refuse on her.

Our relationship with Mother Nature could best be described as incestuous, exploitative, and violently pornographic.

The sight of a 3.2 litre outboard engine on a speed boat in the Gull River last summer made me wonder about the kind of mentality that sells and buys excessive, wasteful, unnecessary, and inappropriate

directions

by Edward Moll

power for our small lakes.

The control of the wolf population is related to the control of the deer population, which in turn is related to the encroachment of our human population on animal habitats through, not just our houses, but also our snowmobile trails, motocross trails, and the influx of our tourist industry in the summer. The wolf bounty is the inevitable result of an overcrowded neighbourhood.

Thomas Merton wrote, "I mistrust breathing air that we have poisoned and then have made clean with other poisons. I mistrust drinking water that we have first poisoned and then made clean again with other poisons."

We have forgotten how to live with God's gift. Nowhere is this more apparent than in Council's attempt to find more space to dump garbage. The aim question seems to be "Where can we find another 'waste disposal site?'"

It is the wrong question. We must ask ourselves the first question, which is - "How can we throw less away, waste less, produce less garbage?" That is the first question. Looking for more space is not a long-term solution; it is a cop-out.

Have we considered a longterm recycling program? Separating glass, paper and plastic? Reusing containers and tin cans? Eating less pre-packaged foods?

Introducing and maintaining a program like this requires more time, effort, education, co-operation and imagination than finding another "waste management site". However, in the long run, it will be more satisfying, less expensive, and we may have something left for our children and our grandchildren to enjoy.

We will learn, in some small measure, to live again with nature, instead of on top of her.

If not, "the earth will be ours, and the emptiness thereof."

Open house is just political double talk

Editor:

The meeting on Saturday, March 5 with the Ministry of Natural Resources officials and a representative from Parks Canada over the proposed flood plain in Minden and Lutterworth Townships, although shedding some light on the total situation, evolved in little more than political double talk. It has become very obvious that whether we like it or not, if we want a complete official plan we are going to be stuck with a Zoning Bylaw which decimates and devalues the vast majority of residential and commercial property along the Gull River. What I find most irksome is the decisions are arbitrary for the most part. We as taxpayers are expected to absorb these losses without any compensation from any governing body. To me it appears to be nothing more than political blackmail on the part of Natural Resources and I strongly urge each and every member of this community who is affected by this proposed plan to organize and not let this matter rest even if an O.M.B. hearing be our last resort of protest.

I would be most interested in organizing and working for a flood control protest group for the following reasons.

Presently, there are real estate people who are saying that properties in the affected areas (although there is a disclosure that a property may be in the flood plain area) are still selling at current market value, and no one disputes this fact, however, the by-law has not been passed as yet, but once it is, try to get any lending institution to finance a mortgage. It just won't happen. Try to put some fill in your lot, or make any changes to your building, you will not be allowed. If your dwellings or place of business burns to the ground, you may or may not be allowed to rebuild, however, if you wish to change from the original configuration of the building prior to it being destroyed, you will not be allowed to do so. You are essentially caught between a rock and a hard place, you have a property that you cannot sell for the value it is worth and you cannot improve it, but you will still have to pay taxes and services and you are not going to be compensated by the government for any losses. To any resident in Minden, whether it be a homeowner or a business person, such treatment is despicable.

Proud to be a Canadian

Editor:

This is a great year for Canada!

We enjoyed attending "Celebration 88". We watched the Olympics and had a lump in our throat as we followed the flame across Canada. Aren't you proud to be a Canadian? I am.

I am also proud to be a resident of Minden, and if I in some small way have helped to make this a better place in which to live I am happy.

Seeing the market drop

by Arthur Black

I don't get spooked just because the stock market takes a tumble. I don't tremble when TV preachers in blow-dry hair tell me I'll fry in Hell if I don't send them money.

I don't bat an eye when wild-eyed hairies accost me on the street clad in sandwich boards that read THE END OF THE WORLD IS NIGH!

Especially when they spell "nigh" wrong.

But I'll tell you what does unnerve me a little. When otherwise sane people start consulting oracles - that makes the hair on the back of my neck shuffle to attention.

Through the ages people have tried to discern the future by reading everything from the stars in the sky to the bumps on their head. Even today we have palm readers, crystal ball gazers, Tarot card players and I Ching tossers.

And we have prophets. Prophets go way back. There was Nostrodamus, a 16th century French soothsayer (-who, by the way had a prediction to make about Canada. "A Canadian leader, of lowly birth, shall be raised to great power and eventually assume command over men of nobility.")

Joe Clark, you think?

But I digress. There were lots of prophets before Nostrodamus. The Bible is peppered with them - and the Ancient Greeks were fond of a group of enterprising hippies who hung out in caves around Delphi, on the slopes of Mount Parnassus.

The Greeks would bring the Delphic oracles lavish gifts and thorny problems. The Oracles would take the payola, do a little hocus-pocus, and leave the Greeks an obscure rhyming couplet to scratch their heads over.

And so it's been for humankind pretty well since the dawn of time. As soon as we run up against some seemingly insoluble problem we look around, find the guy with the rattiest hair, the worst table manners, or the nerve to do the cryptic crossword puzzle in ball-point and we say: "Hey Herb, can you help me out with this?"

Which was, by and large, an adequate modus operandi when we were hunkering down in caves and squabbling over who got the last mastodon haunch - but I thought we were beyond the oracular stage by now.

Surely in an age of laser surgery and microprocessed grocery lists, space stations and drive-through funeral parlours - surely we have progressed beyond asking soothsayers for some inside tips?

Wrong. I present Exhibit A: Ms. Faith Popcorn.

No, I'm not kidding. Faith Popcorn is her name., Kind of a plainish, fast-talking, mid-forties business woman with a Woody Allen haircut and a pair of hands that carve and chop and sculpt the air, never stopping, as she tells you the visions that she has. But Faith Popcorn is no scrabble-haired crazy clad in rags and bear grease living in a cave. She works out of a high rise office building on Madison Avenue. She's head of an outfit called BrainReserve. She calls herself a market consultant, but she's an oracle by any other name.

At a time when Wall Street was flying high, Faith Popcorn predicted a crash. She predicted that the New Coke would be a bust. It was. She predicted the end of dietmania and a return to chubby chic - right again.

Most important for somebody trying to make a buck, Faith Popcorn found she could predict things in time for clients to cash in on them. A company manufacturing shower heads asked her how they could get their product moving. Faith Popcorn looked around and decided that Americans were uptight and didn't know it.

"Call it an anti-stress therapeutic massage" she told them. They did. They sold millions.

Her record so far: 95 per cent right - according to her. But what do I know? She's got more than 200 companies signed up, each of which forks over a fee ranging from $75,000 to $600,000 - depending on how many kernels of the Popcorn brain they want to munch.

Just for the record and no charge, here are a couple of things Faith Popcorn says will be coming down the pike soon:

North Americans are going to stay home more.

We are going to give up on yuppie food - effete foreign dishes with unpronounceable names and no taste - in favour of traditional "Mom food".

Oh yes, and we will be praying too. Or, as Faith Popcorn's newsletter puts it: "God is In."

I wonder if anyone ever broke it to God that he was Out?

God knows.

Dorset acid rain report

The following report on precipitation events is based on readings taken at the Ministry of Environment acid rain testing station in Dorset as compiled by Environment Canada. There were three events during the latest reporting period:

- February 28, 4 cm of snow, pH 4.2, from Michigan and southern Ontario.

- March 1, 1 cm of snow, pH 4.3, from Lake Superior, Michigan and southern Ontario.

- March 2, 1 cm of snow, pH 3.7, from northern Ontario and central Ontario.

Environmental damage is usually observed in sensitive areas regularly receiving precipitation with pH less than 4.7. Readings of 4.0 pH or less are considered dangerous. The lower the reading, the more acidic the precipitation.

Museum receives heritage grant

The Haliburton Highlands Museum has received a $6,656 grant, John Eakins, MPP for Victoria - Haliburton announced last week.

Mr. Eakins made the announcement on behalf of the Honourable Lily Munro, Minister of Culture and Communications.

The funds will be used to purchase equipment for environmental control purposes.

The Resources Natural Equipment Category grant came from the Ministry's Heritage Division.

Monarchs will be back

Look out for the Monarchs next season. This is the advice of Bantams coach Jerry Campbell, after his team was edged by Manvers in the final playoff round last Thursday at the Minden arena.

An inspiring season came to a close Thursday as the Monarchs were downed 7 - 2 in the fourth game of this final playoff series. However, Campbell is taking these results in stride and is optimistic about the young team's chances next year. Almost the entire squad will be back, and now that they know they can win, they will be the team to be reckoned with next season.

The Monarchs opened this season with some disappointing results. However, Campbell, Dave Dollo, Daryl Ward and Doug Schell were convinced the team had more talent than it was showing. As the season progressed, the players learned that winning was possible, and it showed in their results toward the end of the season.

The Monarchs skated through the round-robin playoff series in impressive fashion, finishing second only to Manvers. And when they came into the finals, they opened with a strong 8 - 7 win.

However, Manvers fought back with two consecutive wins on their own ice, and the Monarchs lost a number of key players to injuries in the struggle.

The presence of Rob Ackerblade, Wyatt Nesbitt, Darren Sawyer and Jamie Walker was missed as the team skated out onto the ice for the fourth game Thursday night.

Manvers took a 3-0 lead in the first frame and never really looked back as they skated away with the championship. Campbell said he is proud of the entire team for the spirit they showed in overcoming the slow start. They showed tremendous improvement, and next season it will be even better, he said.

The names to watch out for as the Bantams take to the ice next year are Aaron Hie, Jamie Dollo, Kent Taylor, Jason Scarlett, Darren Sawyer, Joey Boyle, Derrick Moore, Kyle Hewitt, Rob Ackerblade, Wyatt Nesbitt, Mike Muli, Hunter Obee, Corbie Kent and Jamie Walker.

An inspiring season of hockey came to a close last Thursday night for the Minden Bantam Monarchs as they lost the fourth game of the finals series to Manvers. The Monarchs had a great season and are optimistic of even better results next season.

Cadets brave cold weather during camping weekend

There are few in the Highlands who would consider this to be a good time for a fun weekend of camping, but that is exactly what 20 members of the Haliburton Legion Army Cadet Corps did March 5 and 6. The group spent the night, under canvas, under the stars in Glebe Park.

The exercise in winter camping and cold weather survival was a complete success, according to corps commanders Joey and Denis Allaire. In addition to the intricacies of creating a camp in winter conditions, the cadets were involved in a number of other training exercises. Cadet Sergeants Cliff Smith and Kent Miller pointed out that the two day outing included classes in outdoor survival, use of portable radios, map and compass reading.

Cadet Sergeant Chantelle Bellefleur noted that the special insulated tents and winter sleeping bags were provided by the army base in Trenton. The army also provided snowshoes, and toboggans for the weekend excursion.

One of the highlights of the weekend was the Saturday evening meal. Preparing rations provided by the military, the cadets treated their parents and family to a winter picnic.

In addition to the practical lessons learned during the weekend, the cadets came to a greater appreciation of the value of co-operation. The weekend adventure began at the Legion Hall, with the cadets being responsible for moving their gear and supplies to the camp site for the weekend. Pulling the load across Head Lake on toboggans, the group quickly realized the work would go a lot quicker if everyone worked together.

While the cadets were fortunate to enjoy one of the more pleasant weekends of the winter for their outing, the temperature still dipped well below freezing on Saturday night. One member of the corps experienced a numb leg, the result of the cold temperatures, and had to be removed from the camp, providing the cadets with a first-hand lesson in dealing with first aid procedures.

According to the commanding officers, the success of this year's event could lead to extending an invitation to other cadet corps in the province to join them for the camp out next year.

Home edges ahead of the pack

A high-scoring win over Vasey Real Estate last Thursday helped loft Home Hardware into the final playoff series when three teams ended up with a points tie for second place after round-robin action.

Seniors awards offered again

by John Eakins, M.P.P.

The Counties of Haliburton and Victoria are blessed with a large number of senior citizens. According to statistics, our riding has among the highest percentage of senior citizens in the province.

Seniors, like so many others in society, are often overlooked and taken for granted. That is why I was so pleased to hear about the Ontario Senior Achievement Awards.

My colleague, the Honourable Mavis Wilson, Minister for Senior Citizens' Affairs, recently announced that the awards were returning for 1988. The presentation of the awards will be part of the annual Senior Citizens' Month celebrations held in June.

I urge any local seniors, their friends or family to pick up nomination forms through the Office for Senior Citizens' Affairs. The mailing address is: 76 College Street, 6th floor, Toronto, Ontario, M7A 1N3. If you desire any more information please call the office for Senior Citizens' Affairs at (416) 965-5106. The deadline for making nominations is April 15, 1988.

Nominees must be 65 years of age or older and residents of Ontario. They must have achieved significant goals and made an outstanding contribution to the citizens of the province during their retirement years.

The public as well as community organizations may nominate individuals in their area and a selection committee will review all nominations and select the winners.

Last year, a total of 21 seniors were honoured out of a field of about 500 nominations.

Finals series begins tonight

Hartwick Construction earned first place in the Minden Men's League round-robin playoffs, and will be taking on Home tonight in the first game of a best-of-three playoff final.

Hartwick accepted only one loss in the round robin action to finish one game ahead of Home, Halls Insurance and the Rockcliffe, which all tied for second place. However, Home racked up 38 goals in the five-game series to edge its way into the finals.

Because of problems with the ice at the Minden Arena, the February 29 games were postponed until March 6. That night, Halls downed the Rockcliffe, Hartwick edged The Times and Home blasted Vasey.

Halls 7, Rockcliffe 4

Despite a very strong opening, the Rockcliffe tired midway through the game to fall 7 - 4 at the hands of Halls. The Rockcliffe took an early 3 - 1 lead, but Halls rallied back with four of their own before the Rockcliffe scored again. Halls added another two late in the third to insure the lead.

Rod Finlay was the top goal scorer for Halls with three, while Kim Colliss and Barry Boice each marked two.

Bernie Upton scored two for the Rockcliffe, while Harold Cowen and Merv Mintz each scored once.

Hartwick 8, Times 6

The regular season champions had their hands full as they faced Hartwick in the second game of the night and fell 8 - 6. Hartwick's scoring power was just too much for The Times to handle in this game.

Hartwick's Dave Hartwick broke the 6 - 6 tie late in the game, and added an insurance marker moments later to deflate The Times' spirit.

Hartwick led the scoring for his team with a hat-trick. Brian Shaw and Jim Crawford each bagged two goals and Larry Sawyer scored one.

Sid MacKeigan was responsible for much of the damage at the opposite end of the rink. He scored three times for The Times, while Bern Berry, Jeff Howe and John McAdam each scored once.

Home 13, Vasey 5

Home continued to display surprising strength in playoff action as they overwhelmed Vasey with a 13 - 5 score. Although there is no surprise in the win, the score was impressive and proved to be important in deciding who would move on into the finals.

Scott Hamilton was unstoppable, slipping the puck past Vasey goaltender Kevin Smith five times in this game. Ben Manuge put in a solid game with three goals, while Gary Nelson and Doug Schell each scored two. Peter Walker rounded out Home's score-fest with one goal.

Dean Hewitt notched three goals in the losing effort for Vasey, while Kevin Hamilton scored two.

Hopes dashed

The Times' hopes of earning one of the two final playoff positions were dashed when they accepted an upset loss to the Rockcliffe last Monday night. This was the third straight loss for the regular season champions, and it moved them well out of the running for a berth in the finals.

On the other hand, the Rockcliffe's win boosted them into a three-way points tie for the second spot. However, Home scored more goals throughout the playoffs to advance to the final round against Hartwick.

Rockcliffe 8, Times 6

The Rockcliffe's 4 - 2 scoring advantage in the final period of play Monday was enough to boost them to victory over The Times. The late Rockcliffe rally broke the 4 - 4 tie that existed after the first two periods and gave them the 8 - 6 edge.

Harold Cowen, Bernie Upton and Barry Walker paved the way for Rockcliffe's win with two goals each. Brian Marquardt and Barry Shaw each scored once to round out the scoring.

The Times' goals were shared evenly by Andy Campbell, Jeff Howe and Sid MacKeigan with two each.

Halls 6, Home 3

Although Halls managed to down Home in the final game of the round-robin series, they could not muster enough goals to edge their way into the finals. The 6 - 3 win put them into a tie for points with Home and the Rockcliffe, but they needed more goals to advance.

John Barkwell and Rod Finlay did the bulk of the scoring for Halls with two each. Kim Colliss and Barry Boice each scored one.

Scott Hamilton did all of the scoring for Home. He scored all three of the goals in this loss.

Hartwick 11, Vasey 7

There were no surprises in the final game of the night last Monday as Hartwick downed Vasey 11 - 7.

The win gave Hartwick lone control of first place in round-robin play, while Vasey accepted their fifth straight loss.

Larry Sawyer, Jim Keetch and Brian Shaw each picked up hat-tricks for Hartwick in this game. Dave Hartwick added two of his own to the tally.

Vasey's scoring attack was led by Jerry Campbell and Kevin Hamilton with two each. Norm Barry, Dean Hewitt and Daryl Ward scored once each.

The best-of-three finals between Home and Hartwick begins tonight at the Minden arena. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Skating Carnival will be a 'Mickey Mouse' affair

On Sunday, March 27 at 7 p.m., the Minden Skating Club will once again be holding their annual Carnival. The theme is "Disney Skates" with many familiar Walt Disney characters portrayed by our local aspiring skaters.

Guest skaters will be the exciting pair team of Lori Rissling and Alan Kerslake. Lori is a member of the Preston Figure Skating Club and Alan is from the St. James Assinaboia

known pair coach, Kerry Leiotch, in Kitchener at the National Pairs Training Center. Both have previously skated with other partners, winning numerous medals at various levels of Sectional, Divisional and Canadian competition. This past summer Lori and Alan were teamed together and have had a very successful start with their partnership. They placed third in the Senior category at their Divisional competition and seventh at Canadians in January '88.

Canada is the only country at their national championships to hold a "Fours" competition which is two pair teams competing as one. The four skaters, two ladies and two men, skate as a team doing lifts, spins and jumps in unison. Lori and Alan were part of the team who earned the bronze medal in this event at Canadians. They are sure to be an exciting pair to watch and the Minden Skating Club is thrilled to have them.

Carnival tickets are available now from any skating club member.

Snowmobile accidents up dramatically: OPP

Snowmobile accidents investigated by the Ontario Provincial Police have increased dramatically in the province for the second winter in a row.

The OPP is concerned that the 1987/88 winter season could be the worst on record for fatalities involving snowmobile enthusiasts.

Last winter (November 1986 to April 1987) the OPP investigated 15 snowmobiling fatalities, almost double the figure for the previous year.

As of February 8 of this year, 12 people have died as a result of 10 separate snowmobile accidents. Alcohol, inexperience and driving too fast for ground conditions continue to be the major contributors in more than half of all snowmobile fatalities investigated by the OPP.

Thin ice has proven to be a deadly element this season with six other people killed when cars and trucks plunged through the ice in separate accidents in the Kingston and Midland areas.

Thin ice has proven to be a dangerous factor over the past two years as warmer weather early in the season prevented the formation of a solid base on most southern Ontario waterways.

Snowmobilers would be wise to check with local authorities or residents about ice and snow conditions, or other area hazards. Use common sense. If you don't know, don't go.

Riders risk death or serious injury in accidents on or off the road because the snowmobile offers little protection in a sudden stop or collision.

Off the road, snowmobilers may strike rocks or tree stumps covered by snow. Dips in terrain and wire fences are deadly obstacles camouflaged by the white background.

In short, operation impaired by alcohol, driving too fast, inexperience, recklessness, ignorance of the law and unfamiliarity with terrain are the lethal elements

Woman injured in 2 car accident

2-car accident

A Haliburton woman was injured last week in a two-car accident on the Barry Line in Guilford Township.

Nancy McCormick, of R.R. 1, Haliburton, was eastbound on the Barry Line on March 3 when her car was hit by another driven by Elaine Barjarow, also of Haliburton. Barjarow was exiting from a driveway when the accident happened, and has been charged with failing to yield the right of way.

OPP Constable Gary Chapman investigated.

Impaired

Scott Walker, 29, of Guilford Township is charged with impaired driving after he was involved in an accident on March 3 on Highway 35 north of Minden.

William Brett, 57, of Hamilton was the driver of the second vehicle and has been charged with failing to yield the right of way from a driveway.

Mischief

Police have charged James Scott Greenside with breaking and entering and with mischief after an incident on March 5.

The 28-year-old Lutterworth Township resident was to have appeared in Provincial Court in Minden on March 6. OPP Constable Brian Sachs investigated the incident.

Exchange offered

Maureen Brown of Gravenhurst is enthusiastic about a new exchange program that could offer local students a chance to spend next year studying in Europe or Australia.

As the Gravenhurst area coordinator of the Educational Foundation Exchange Program she is responsible for extending the program into the Haliburton and Minden areas. She is now looking for additional volunteer help to assist her in promoting the program throughout the district.

The "Educational Foundation for Foreign Study" is a non-profit Canadian organization that has sponsored academic homestay programs for high school students world wide since 1979. In less than a decade close to 20,000 students from 21 nations have participated.

Canada is the 21st country to participate in the program, she said, and was approached when many European families began to question sending their children to the United States. Organization of the exchange has been complicated in Canada because education falls under provincial jurisdiction.

She said it was finally decided that Canada would accept no more students than it could send to Europe or

Australia. "There are already hundreds of European students who have requested Ontario as their desired area of placement this year."

Brown was impressed by the benefits of students who participate in international exchanges. "I'm seeing these teenagers coming from all over the world to us and I see what a marvelous influence they bring."

The program's biggest plus, she said, is the constant contact students will have with their designated area rep. During their 10-month visit, "you just have to realize they need a little extra encouragement."

She said the program is more accessible to a greater number of Canadian students than existing exchanges. To be eligible, Canadian students must be between 15 and 18 years of age, and have at least a B average for the last two school years. Students can also choose whether they will visit Scandinavia, Europe or Australia.

She emphasized the program won't succeed without interested individuals and families in each community who are willing to act as local contacts.

"We will never place a student in any community without an area representative close at hand."

You can get involved by calling Mrs. Brown at 645-3460 or EF's Canadian head office (toll free) 1-800-363-3337.

Keeping Central Ontario Informed!

Still reaping the benefits

Although John Eakins is no longer Ontario's Tourism Minister, the benefits of some of the programs he established while holding that portfolio continue to assist Haliburton tourism operators.

Acting as the local MPP, Eakins was at the Domain of Killien Resort last week to announce the approval of a $79,800 incentive loan on behalf of Hugh O'Neil, the current Minister of Tourism.

The Domain, located on Drag Lake, outside the Village of Haliburton plans to make renovations to its facilities, install computer equipment, provide a semi-professional croquet field, purchase a grooming machine for cross country ski trails and conduct major landscaping with the help of this loan. The total cost of the project is estimated at $159,660.

In announcing approval at the resort last week, Eakins praised Dante and Jean Edouard Larcade for the facilities at the Domain and the pride they take in promoting the resort.

The 5,000 acre resort is a unique facility and has special appeal to tourists. "I like what you're doing here," he said. "It's unique and it's appealing."

Eakins, who was Tourism Minister when this loan application was filed, said he is pleased to see the progress being made in the tourism industry under the programs which he established.

For too long, tourism was considered to have little importance as an industry in this province, he said. However, this profile has altered dramatically, and the industry is proving it can now compete with the best, said Eakins, who is now the Minister of Municipal Affairs.

The announcement came with little fanfare at the comfortable lounge at the Domain, and the meeting soon turned into a "fireside chat" where other issues of importance to the local tourism scene were conveyed.

Of paramount importance to the Domain, as well as many other resorts in Haliburton County, is the fluctuating water levels in the lakes. Eakins agreed this is a growing problem and something must be done to find a solution.

It used to be that cottagers were the only ones affected by the changing water levels. However, it is apparent that it is now affecting businesses as well. "When it gets to that, we have to take a fresh look at the situation," he said.

This sort of informal trading of concerns and ideas is very important, he said. He depends on feedback from residents and business owners.

The funds for the loan to the Domain come from the Destinations East Capital Assistance Program. The loan will enable the resort to meet its target markets and the improvements also comply with the provincial government's policy on access for the disabled.

Issues of concern to the Tourism Industry in Haliburton County were the topics of discussion during an informal "fireside chat" at the Domain of Killien Resort last week as Victoria-Haliburton MPP John Eakins arrived to announce the approval of a Destinations East loan. The Domain is looking forward to many improvements with the help of the incentive loan, provided through one of the programs Eakins created while Tourism Minister.

Spring is on its way

Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Mounting piles of snow to the contrary, spring is definitely on its way. For the past few weeks the male cardinal has been flying furiously at his reflected image in the garage window, and the other day he carried out an attack on the side mirror of the car. He flutters against the window, pecking at the glass and uttering vehement chipping sounds. Sometimes he does this over and over again with the female watching from a nearby forsythia. Suddenly, he will fly off with the female apparently satisfied that he has intimidated his rival in the glass.

The lengthening days have stirred up his hormones so that he is pugnaciously defending his territory. Besides his acrobatic performance at the window, he has started his spring songs. His clear bright whistle rings out from the top of a tree or the television aerial. Gradually the arias become more and more complicated often ending in emphatic staccato. The female may also sing, but with nesting, her vocalization, except for the warning chip, ceases. The male will continue his ebullient outpourings from some high vantage point all summer. In late February, though, the clear whistle of the cardinal is as welcome a sign of spring as the liquid murmur of melting snow.

Once rare in southern Ontario, the Cardinal is now firmly established along Lake Erie and Lake Ontario with evidence that each year it is expanding its range northward. Now it is a confirmed breeder as far north as Georgian Bay and Ottawa.

Since the cardinal prefers to nest in bushy tangles or in the depths of conifers, suburban gardens and city parks suit it. It has also benefitted by the proliferation of bird feeders. That large beak cracks sunflower husks better than any nutcracker, the husks dropping away neatly on either side of the bill. Although wild fruit and seeds form the major part of its diet in the winter, both parents and young consume large quantities of insects during the summer.

When the cardinal becomes the father of a brood, he takes his family responsibilities seriously. Sometimes he will continue to feed the young even when they are fledged and he has a second brood. At first the fledged young cardinals of both sexes resemble the female, except that their crests look slightly askew. By early fall the young males will be in scarlet plumage.

A family of cardinals bathing on a hot day in summer is an entertaining spectacle. Constant chipping sounds from the bushes beside the bath alert the observer to their presence. Then a young cardinal lights boldly on the edge of the birdbath, still chipping non-stop. When it finally hops into the water, its first splash is tentative. But it soon settles to the voluptuous enjoyment of splashing. Eventually the whole family will bathe, except for father who makes anxious little sounds until all are safely back in the bushes. In Ontario, cardinals are quite sedentary and it is unlikely that these fledglings will go more than a few miles from where they hatched.

This month the male is accompanying the female to the feeding platform where he offers her a seed, and then retires to a neighbouring bush to watch and allow her to eat first. Tomorrow morning he'll be back giving the window hell.

Science is a national priority

by Bill Scott, M.P.

Since the present government came to office, several initiatives have been undertaken to fulfill its commitment to science and technology as a national priority.

A National Advisory Board has been established on Science and Technology.

The InnovAction program has been formed to focus on: Industrial innovation and technology diffusion; Development of strategic technologies;

Effective management of federal science and technology resources; Human resources for science and technology; and Public education in science and technology.

The government has set up a new Department of Industry, Science and Technology.

Research and development has and will continue to receive special tax treatment under tax reform.

A Standing Committee of the House of Commons on Research, Science and Technology has been created.

New patent legislation, Bill C-22, will result in some $1.3 billion in new investment for pharmaceutical research and create 1,300 new jobs.

Agreement has been reached between the provinces and territories on elements of a National Science and Technology Policy.

On January 13, Prime Minister Mulroney announced that federal funding of $1.3-billion will be allocated for new science and technology initiatives.

These funds, which will be implemented over the next five years, will result in a number of new programs and initiatives, including:

- A national program of Centres of Excellence on university campuses. The broad purpose of these centres will be to establish networks of researchers and scientists across the country to conduct world-estimated 2,500 university students every year.

The Prime Minister also stated that the federal government will be discussing the design and implementation of these and other initiatives with the provinces and territories, as well as the private sector.

Since the Progressive Conservatives have come to power, we have set up a good framework in which to further the goals of research and development. Not only did the government set up the long-awaited agenda, it also abolished some of the fumbled initiatives of the previous government, most notably the Scientific Research Tax Credit, which diverted hundreds of millions of dollars of research funds away from research and into quick flips and paper profits.

Even more annoying, neither the Provincial Government, Ministry of Natural Resources or the Trent-Severn Waterway which is under the jurisdiction of the Federal government were willing to come up with any alternatives to relieve or ease the situation. It is much simpler, with the stroke of a pen, for these civil servants to declare something valueless than to protect the interests of the people who pay their salaries.

We were told that it would be too expensive to widen the mouth of the Gull River compared to the benefits received, but no concrete figures were given as to cost. We were told it would be too expensive to dredge the Gull River. The truth is, they probably never thought of it. Even the maps used to arrive at the decision for a flood plain were ten years old, they are not current.

We were told that the dams at Kennisis and Redstone Lakes were problems, but there seems to be no desire to improve them. We were told that if we designated certain areas to create reservoirs that this would undoubtedly upset the sportsmen and cottagers. In short, it is fine for the year round high tax paying members of Minden and Lutterworth to be penalized.

Mr. Verne Graham very eloquently stated at the meeting that we should complain to our Federal M.P. as it is their problem. The problem is every bit as much the Provincial Government as the Federal Government and it is the Provincial Government that is trying to force this bylaw on us, not the Federal Government. And by the way, Mr. Graham, I phoned Mr. Scott's wife on March 7, and within one half hour Mr. Scott phoned me from Ottawa and promised to investigate this whole matter with the Trent-Severn Waterway and give us whatever support he could. I phoned Mr. Eakins' office on March 4 voicing my concerns to his secretary and asked that he return my phone call. It is now March 10 and I am still waiting for my phone call to be acknowledged. Mr. Graham, I challenge you to use everything within your power at a Provincial level to see that every affected resident of this community is treated fairly. It is the Province of Ontario that is the instigator.

The Province of Ontario has a tremendous obligation to the people of Anson, Hindon and Minden and Lutterworth Townships and it is about time that they were made aware of this fact.

Once again, I wish to emphasize, we need to organize, whether we are partially or totally affected, political double talk and glossing over of an extremely critical situation is not the answer.

Gordon A. Monk,
Minden.

SOMETIMES THE TOUGHEST JOB IS TURNING OFF THE KEY.

Thanks to Honda's new FOURTRAX 300, going to work in the outdoors just got easier. And a lot more fun.

For starters, there's an all new 282 cc four-stroke engine that's like a bulldog when it comes to power and torque. It springs into action at the touch of a button, smooths out the toughest terrain with heavy-duty, long travel suspension, and makes short work of obstacles with big 23-inch front tires and a turning circle of 2.5 metres (8.2 ft.). It's one heavy-duty machine.

The only thing light about this FOURTRAX 300 gets it done - 200 kg (440.8 lb). Tubular steel front and rear carriers plus a standard trailer hitch that pulls 385.5 kg (850 lb), plus power to spare if you need to do a little pushing, too.

All this power is yours in a smooth five-speed transmission with reverse gear and automatic clutch designed to take a load off your hands.

Whether you're hauling wood, or hauling in the fish, a FOURTRAX 300 gets it done.

But be forewarned. Once you start one up, you'll find it hard to turn off. It's that much fun.

So come in soon and check out a FOURTRAX 300.

VON raising funds for services

During the week of March 28, 1988, Peterborough order of the Victorian Order of Nurses, which serves the counties of Haliburton, Victoria and Peterborough, is embarking on a fund raising campaign.

This campaign will enable the branch to maximize this provision of programs which enhance health and quality of life in the communities.

Contractual arrangements with local departments of health, Department of Veterans Affairs, and the Ministry of Community and Social Services, enable the VON to provide many services. The development of new services and the expansion and improvement of existing ones does, however, require additional funds.

Through donations the board can ensure development and extension of the Adult Day Centre Program, the Enterostomal Therapy Program and Foot Care Services.

Through a network of 72 branches across Canada, VON offers a wide range of services which help people and families meet their health care needs.

These services promote independence, maximize strengths and help people to remain at home in their communities. Each branch provides services tailored to meet the specific needs of their communities.

Some of the services provided by the VON include nursing visits, senior assessment and counselling, adult day care, foot care clinics, visits from volunteers. Meals on Wheels, Occupational Health Nursing, Placement Co-ordination Services, a homemaker's program, home care administration, prenatal education and a variety of health promotion services.

With community support, VON will continue "caring for Canadians", a VON tradition since 1897. For more information about branch activities, call the executive director at 754-9155.

Business awards entries invited

Haliburton County businesses are being invited to enter themselves into the Canada Awards for Business Excellence contest.

The awards honour outstanding business performance in eight categories: Small Business, Productivity, Marketing, Entrepreneurship, Labour Management Co-operation, Innovation, Invention, and Industrial Design.

The program is open to business enterprises or their divisions, located in Canada, of all sizes and in all fields of economic activity.

This is an opportunity for firms to gain national recognition and a marketing edge. Entry procedures for the program are straightforward: for each category entered, a one-page questionnaire must be answered on a maximum of our typewritten pages. The selection of winners is by independent panels of recognized private sector experts. Panelists select up to five winners in each category: one gold, one silver and three bronze. A further number of entrants (at the discretion of the panelists) will also be selected to receive certificates of merit. Award winners are honoured at a prestigious national ceremony, to be held at the Westin Hotel, Ottawa, on September 14.

The 1988 program was officially launched mid-January, and entries will close April 15. Entry questionnaires with complete program details can be obtained by writing to Canada Awards for Business Excellence, Department of Regional Industrial Expansion, 235 Queen Street, Ottawa, Ontario, K1A 0H5.

Which did you see first, Les or the wheelchair?

"Around the neighbourhood of my pharmacy, people are changing their attitude toward disabled persons. When they first dealt with me, they had their reservations about my capabilities as a pharmacist - now they see how much I can actually do."

As owner/operator of two pharmacies, Les is a successful entrepreneur and an avid basketball player. He is also one of the 937,000 adults in Ontario with some form of disability. Les, like many disabled persons, often finds that people are so concerned with what he can't do, they fail to see what he can. Now if Les won't let his disability stop him from being a contributing member of the community, why should we?

senior league

by Pearl Lyle

Dear Readers:
Some days it's wintery and other days it's almost like spring.

Our chapel meeting Sunday evening was by Rev. J. Burgess and Heather Bowron supplying the music. Tuesday morning by Rev. Kent, the Baptist Minister.

Our Thursday afternoon Tea Party was conducted by the Ladies of the Senior Curling Club of Minden. It was really nice and everyone enjoyed it. The Fearrey Family came Tuesday evening with music and singing. We hope they will come again. Dora Dawson had dinner out with Mr. and Mrs. Stan Dawson on Sunday. Bert Harrison has his son Holly to see him on Wednesday after coming from the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Cameron from Peterborough were dinner guests of Winnie Barnum on Sunday. Mrs. Oliver was out for dinner on Sunday with her daughter Mrs. Coneybeare.

The coughs and colds seem to be going the rounds again, quite a few have been smitten.

The Residents are on a baking spree. You never know what to expect next.

The World Day of Prayer was held here on Friday, March 4th, with a nice crowd present. The United Church Ladies were in charge. The theme was The Open Door. The speaker for this occasion was Mrs. Kit Flemming. It was a splendid address, after which Mrs. Coburn and Shirley Colliss sang a lovely duet. Tea and cookies were served and a social time was had by everyone.

The folk are all busy again, knitting, crocheting and quilting all kinds of things, even poultry.
Debbie Dart (my granddaughter) from Haliburton came to see me Sunday afternoon. We had a nice visit.

Sorry to report Edna Cowan is in Hospital again. We hope she will be home soon.

Until next week.
Let us not be weary in well doing, for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

Hi Kids!
Here is another puzzle for you with a word list. Look in the diagram of letters for the words given in the list. Find them by reading up, down, forward, backward and diagonally. They are all in a straight line and do not skip letters. Circle the words in the diagram and cross it off the list.

It's as easy as that. Have fun!

- intended for last week -

Hello, well this has been a super slow week, not much was happening at all.

As you saw in last week's Times, the issue of shorts has been settled - at least for now. A majority of teachers voted in favour of the motion and a 'trial period' has been issued for May and June, 1988. Restrictions are to be enforced, however, and length stipulations will be upheld. Patterned shorts will not be allowed, however and the big question being heard throughout the halls is 'Why not?'

We asked Mr. Lerpiniere - teacher and advisor to the school's S.A.C. about this and he replied that the teachers only allowed students wearing shorts only if they were of solid colours. He said teachers would be afraid that students may get carried away with wild shorts and therefore patterned shorts were out.

Girl's badminton try-outs were held last Thursday and team lists will be posted shortly.

The plans for the school's new library are only in the grassroots stage but already one can see the great change it will bring to our school life. The present day library is too confining in both space and materials, everyone will benefit from the extension. The educational advantages will greatly outweigh the cost for the project.

In curling our girls' team placed second in the Kawartha Championship while the boys placed third in the competition. In order to advance to this competition our teams had to have placed in the top portion of their field.

Such performances could only have been accomplished with the top calibre skills held within each members of both our teams - congratulations.

We'll apologize for the length of this week's edition. These days leading up to the March break are like living in a vacuum, day by day by day.

Not too much is happening throughout the halls of Hal High. Everyone is suffering from severe winter blahs or the flu. This week before the March break (fanfare please) is like living in a vacuum. Even those not flocking to the ski resorts of Quebec or Vermont or frying up on the beaches of Florida are looking forward to the week 'rest'. That is, if we can finish the mounds of assignments and studying done.

Badminton team practices are in full swing. All the time devoted by both coaches and players will undoubtedly help to create as successful a team as we've had in the past.

The drama club is also hard at work trying to piece together the play "Inside Lester". Set design and construction (with help from Mr. Penfold) has begun and the target dates the club is aiming to stage the production are April 8 and 9.

Hopefully, the March break will take away all of our "Hamster Brains". Until our column appears again, Adieu.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank family and friends for the calls, flowers and gifts during my recent hospital stay. Thanks to family for looking after Jamie and David on such short notice and special thanks to Elda Henderson for making the days more bearable. Carla Stewart

The family of the late Harold Deacon would like to thank friends, relatives and neighbours for the many acts of kindness and expressions of sympathy in the loss of our loved one. The floral tributes, donations, cards, telephone calls and gifts of food were all greatly appreciated. Special thanks to Rev. Ed Moll for his calls and comforting words, to the Minden and Carnarvon choirs for assisting in the service, to the U.C.W. ladies for serving the lunch. Also to the two kind friends who came to our aid and helped so quickly, to Dr. Rhodes and Dr. Asbell, nurses and ambulance crew.
